

PASTOR'S SERMONS SPLIT N. Y. CHURCH

200 Members Quit, It is Said, on Account of Dr. Straton's "Sensationalism"

PASTOR EMERITUS RESIGNS

New York, Sept. 20.—The congregation of Calvary Baptist Church has been "split in two" by the protest against the alleged sensationalism of the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, according to George Leask, a banker, one of several members of Dr. Straton's church to join in an attack on the pastor yesterday.

More than 200 members have quit attending, he said, because they did not approve of the realistic phraseology in which Dr. Straton described scenes from stage productions such as "Aphrodisite," and pictured physical details of dress, dances and posturings which he denounced as shocking.

The act of the Rev. Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur, pastor of the church for forty-one years, in withdrawing the use of his name in connection with the work of the church, undoubtedly will be followed by a meeting and formal protest of some kind on the part of church members who disapprove of Dr. Straton's sermons, according to Mr. Leask, who was former president of the Board of Trustees.

The following is a specimen of the pastor's attack on the modern dance: "A fastidious octogenarian or a self-complacent mollycoddle, with ice water in his veins, might be able to look at the sights which any man can see in modern society today, and to hold in his arms a throbbing, beautiful young woman, with almost half of her body exposed and the other half clothed largely with good intentions—such a man, I say, under these circumstances might remain calm."

Dr. Straton made a statement disavowing the withdrawal of Dr. Arthur yesterday, but said that he could not do so without other critics and that the officers of the church would have to deal with them.

"The day is too bright and beautiful to even think of anything so savoring of a controversy, especially with a brother whom I respect and honor," Dr. Straton said.

"In a way, however, this whole thing is rather laughable, because Dr. MacArthur himself was regarded as something of a so-called 'sensationalist' in the hey-day of his power."

The Rev. Dr. John D. Calvert, one of the editors of the religious publication, the Examiner, and a member of Calvary Baptist Church, said yesterday of Dr. Straton:

"His sermons undoubtedly excite curiosity, to say the least, as to the things which he treats in this peculiar manner, and they cause many, for instance, to go to the shows which he denounces as particularly wicked. His sermons bring to the church many 'fosters,' who say that his sermons are better than vaudeville."

NEW PROFESSION APPEARS TO AID HOME WINEMAKERS

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger, Allentown, Pa., Sept. 20.—This is Children's Day at the Allentown Fair, and with the opening of the gates, soon after sun-up, a troop of 20,000 school children began to surge into the grounds. Adults had to pay to get in, but the youngsters were admitted free and were welcomed by a committee of the management headed by President A. H. Balliet, Secretary Harry D. Schall,

ALLENTOWN FAIR HOST TO CHILDREN

Twenty Thousand Youngsters Attend, Many of Them Being Exhibitors

Treasurer Abbot S. Weibel, General Harry C. Trexel, vice president, and other prominent citizens interested in the fair from agricultural and breeding standpoint.

Many of the little guests were exhibitors themselves of garden trucks they had grown or pigs and chickens they had raised. Their efforts were encouraged by visits to the horse and livestock shows at the fair, where they saw some of the finest animals in the country, and by 10 o'clock they were all rounded up for the cavalcade on the race track where the horses were led by halter and the cattle under pole. Heading the cavalcade were General Trexel's entry of twenty-two percheron horses, and there were some remarkably fine cattle, notably the forty polled Angus of J. C. Dickson & Son, of Cochranton, Pa.; the Aryrhires of J. Ellis Burtis, of Hamilton Square, N. J.; forty Devons from the Bates farm, at Hartstown; the Guernseys from the farm of Colonel J. W. Fuller, of Catawauqua; the Kent Barney herd of Aryrhires from Millford, N. Y.; nine Guernseys from the Mountain View Farm of W. John Markle, and many mammoth Holsteins from the broad acres of Lehigh County breeders, who are competing for a silver cup.

At noon all the judges in every department of the fair began their work, some of whom have so many animals, chickens and other exhibits to compare that they will not be able to finish until late in the week. Notably absent from the fair this year is the exhibit of wines and home-made cordials that from time immemorial was a feature.

Explanation
Start with the simple A, B, C Expandex guides. Note that all tabs are at the extreme left.

First Expansion
When too many cards accumulate behind any one guide for rapid reference, drop in a first expansion guide.

Second Expansion
When there is a still further accumulation of cards, drop in a second expansion guide. Thus, the name "Andrews" is filed behind A-N-D.

Third Expansion
When too many "Andrews" cards accumulate, separate them from all the other names beginning with A-N-D by dropping in an "Andrews" guide. Same for the "Bennetts," "Browns," etc.

STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER

Opening Exposition Autumn Fashions

AUTUMN Opening Expositions of Fashions—they are the event of the season in Philadelphia. Hundreds of women arrange their social calendar as well as their wardrobes according to these Expositions—planning their days to include several delightful hours among the new and beautiful Apparel that bears the stamp of authenticity in every graceful line. This season the Expositions are exceptionally interesting—everything so changed, so different; nothing as it was last season, from the size of the sleeve, to the length of the skirt and the position of the girdle. And the materials and colorings would delight an artist.

Evening Gowns

These are of the utmost elegance—velvets, brocades, imported beaded and paillette robes mounted on satin and draped with net, silver-trimmed soiree silks and petaled taffetas with bodices of gold. Sphinx, bronze, sapphire, sea-weed, jade, Lanvin blue, white, black and rust.

Afternoon Gowns

Beautiful straight-line models of rich silk velvets, chiffons brocaded in velvet, heavy Canton crepe and crepe Romain, matelasse which has a soft quilted appearance, exquisite laces, beautiful Jacquard silks, simply draped, and a high novelty in Paisley chiffon—many lavished with fur or girdled in metal and jeweled effects that remind one of the Moyen Age. Some exquisitely beaded and embroidered.

Tailored Dresses

No previous season could boast of anything so luxurious in Cloth Dresses as these of duvetine, piquette and broadcloth, with their circular skirts, uneven skirt lengths. Princess lines and draped effects—many trimmed with caracul, nutria, squirrel and rabbit fur. In black, navy, marmot (a new fur brown), Malay brown and Byzantine, which is a new wine shade.

Luxurious Suits

Suits of such materials as silk velvete, the velvety moussyne; mocha-vel, a soft brushed wool velour; marvella, orlando, duvetine, panelaine, Pollyanna, pearl-cachette, and some entire Suits of elegant caracul fur cloth. Collars and cuffs of fur, deep fur borders and panels—the model sketched is an example. And these Fur-trimmed Suits are so much lower in price than last year—beautiful models at $65.00 and $85.00 and up to $350.00, including the Suit in the sketch, $250.00.

Wraps and Coats

Coats on the long, straight lines of dresses, some with high choker collars; Coats on Princess lines draped to one side. Capes of all kinds, exquisite Wraps with flowing or draped sleeves, and Coats with wrappy sleeves and collars. Wonderful new soft wools, sumptuous velvets and brocades, combined with quantities of furs. Persian lamb is used extensively, and gray caracul, squirrel in many tones, and the beautiful beaver.

Lovely Displays of Silk and Cotton Blouses, fine Footwear, Hand Bags, Neckwear and all the Accessories of Fashionable Dress.
